

Voting starts on plan to withhold fees

University of Toronto students vote today and tomorrow on a referendum to approve or turn down the Ontario Federation of Students' demands that the provincial government defer the 1972-73 increase in tuition fees, provide easier access to the Ontario Student Awards Program, including access for part-time students; lower the loan ceiling from $800 to $600, and reduce the age of independence.

Students are also being asked in the referendum if they will withhold the second instalment of their tuition fees, due in January, if the increase is not rescinded, and if they will hold back all of their fees next year if the Ontario government announces a further increase for 1973-74.

Polling will be conducted in classrooms and at voting stations in major buildings between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Paul Carson, returning officer, told a referendum forum yesterday that the highest student vote recorded at U of T had been 8,000 and that the Students' Administrative Council, sponsor of the referendum, hoped to see that total doubled this time.

Campus-wide publicity has been given to the referendum, including a four page newspaper-style "flyer" jointly produced by the Erindalian and SAC for Erindale College's student paper. SAC thought so well of the "flyer" that, in addition to the 2,000 inserted in the Erindalian, 18,000 more were printed for distribution yesterday on the St. George Campus.

Only about 200 students and a scattering of faculty members were in the 1,700-seat Convocation Hall on Tuesday to hear the Hon. Jack McNie, Minister of Colleges and Universities, explain the government's position, and, to comment, President John R. Evans, Walter Pitman, Dean of Arts at Trent University and former NDP member of the Legislature; James Bulbrook, Liberal education critic in the Legislature, and Eric Miglin, president of SAC.

Mr. McNie said his government's policy in recent years had certainly been one of accessibility. He questioned whether many students from lower and lower middle income groups had been excluded from higher education by reason of the cost, because, he said, 75 per cent of student aid had gone to students in families having incomes of less than $5,000 a year.

The minister agreed that increases in fees and loan ceilings and the lack of employment had had an effect on enrolment, but he suggested that there was no evidence that these factors had had any serious effect on serious students.

This year's increase in fees had been the first in eight years, Mr. McNie said, and he was "confident" there would not be another increase next year. He hoped to see more help for part-time students and he said the government was looking for ways in which young people could repay student loans from their incomes after graduation. "All we are doing," he said, "is to re-appraise our priorities, just as any family or business does from time to time."

Mr. McNie gave a flat "no" to a student who asked if his promise of no increase in 1973-74 might be "shattered" by the final report of the Commission on Post-Secondary Education. Asked if this would also apply to the loan ceiling, he replied, "I hope so." He said he would be "very disappointed" if something was not done to extend financial aid to part-time students.

Walter Pitman was concerned about what he saw as a change in the government's
(Continued overleaf)

COMING EVENTS

OCTOBER

12 THURSDAY

Lectures
Science

Urban Biology
Music

"Drug Manufacturing in the 19th Century". Prof. G. R. Patterson. 103 McLennan Physical Laboratories. 1.10 p.m. (IHPST and Varsity Fund)

"The Plants". Dr. James E. Cruise. Room 4, ROM. 8.30 p.m. Free. Thursday Evening Series. Entertainment for Elizabeth, A Renaissance Spectacle, MacMillan Theatre, Edward Johnson Building. 8.30 p.m. Tickets $4, students $2, Cheques payable Concerts, U of T (Music) Lecture-demonstration "On the 100th Birthday of Vaughan Williams". Dr. Derek Holman. Concert Hall, Edward Johnson Building. 2.10 p.m. No tickets; free. (Music)

13 FRIDAY

Supper

"Lobster Buffet Supper" (including other seafood). Reception 5.30-6 p.m. Buffet 6-8.30 p.m. Faculty Club.

15 SUNDAY

Music

Films

Chamber music concert by John Cahill and members of the Toronto Symphony. Great Hall, Hart House. 8 p.m.

"Adaptation to Environment", "Building a Bridge", "Haida Carver". "Art of the Swordsmith". ROM Theatre, 2.30 p.m. Free with Museum admission.

16 MONDAY

Lecture
Slavic

Open House

"Apocalypse — V. V. Rozanov and D. H. Lawrence". Prof. Heinrich A. Stammner, Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures, University of Kansas. 2118 Sidney Smith Hall. 4 p.m. (Slavic Languages and Literatures)

"Romarama" — The inside story of ROM. Meet the staff, tour study rooms and laboratories, enjoy arts, music and refreshments. Royal Ontario Museum. 8-11.30 p.m.

17 TUESDAY

Lectures

Seminar
Neuroscience

Colloquium
Mathematics

"Black Emerging Nations and Christianity". Three lectures by Dr. Colin Morris, missionary, author, first President of United Church of Zambia. Victoria College academic Building. 4 p.m. Oct. 17, 18 and 19. (Emmanuel College Cousland Lectureship Committee)

"Information Processing in Dendrites. ... Facts and Fancies". Drs. Mila and Arnold Scheibel, Department of Medicine, School of Medicine, U.C.L.A. Osler Hall. 5 p.m.

"Some Unsolved Problems of Elementary Number Theory". Prof. Helmut Hasse, Hamburg University, West Germany. 2117 Sidney Smith Hall. 4.10 p.m. (Mathematics)

18 WEDNESDAY

Installation

Lectures
Surgery

Medieval

Reading

Music

Colloquium
Mathematics

Installation of George Ignatieff, M.A., LL.D. as Provost and Vice-Chancellor of Trinity College. Convocation Hall. 8 p.m. Everyone welcome.

The Balfour Lecture 1972 — "Achievements of Surgery in the Treatment of Peptic Ulceration". Prof. J. C. Goligher, University Department of Surgery, The General Infirmary, Leeds, Eng. Medical Sciences Auditorium. 4 p.m. (Surgery)

First of two lectures on "The Study of Medieval English Dialects". Prof. Angus McIntosh, University of Edinburgh. Upper Library, Massey College. 4.15 p.m. (SCS and Medieval Studies)

"In Person". Martin Myers reads his own works. Fresco Gallery, ROM. 5.30 p.m.

Katharina Wolpe, piano. Faculty of Music Pianist-in-residence. Concert Hall, Edward Johnson Building. 8.30 p.m. No tickets, free.

"La théorie des résidus pour les fonctions de plusieurs variables complexes". Prof. Jean Leray, Collège de France. 2117 Sidney Smith Hall. 4.10 p.m. (Mathematics)

STAFF NOTES

Arts and Science

PROF. S. McLEAN attended the Organic Division of the Chemical Institute of Canada International Symposium on Organic Synthesis at Vancouver, Aug. 20-25 and was chairman of a session.

PROF. AZIZ AHMAD has received the Degree of Doctor of Literature from the University of London for his work in the field of Islamic Culture in India and Urdu Literature.

PROF. J. W. WEVERS has returned from his Sabbatical year spent at the University of Göttingen. During the year he lectured at Uppsala, Groningen, Madrid and Göttingen. On Jan. 28 he was elected corresponding member of the Göttingen Akademie der Wissenschaften, Philologisch-historische Klasse. The maximum number of such members is 80, and Prof. Wevers is the first and only Canadian member.

PROF. D. B. REDFORD directed the third season of the epigraphic and archaeological mission to the Temple of Osiris, Ruler of Eternity, Karnak, Egypt, in May and June. In July he resumed his directorship in Cairo of the Akhenaten Temple Project, sponsored by the University of Pennsylvania. On May 10 Prof. Redford delivered a lecture on "The Work of the Akhenaten Temple Project" to the American Research Center in Egypt, in the lounge of the Cairo office.

While on sabbatical leave Dr. K. G. McNEILL (Physics and Medicine) gave the following lectures: To the Institute of Radiation Hygiene in Prague: on "The Long Term Effect of Thorotrast on Human" and on "In Vivo Neutron Activation Analysis"; on "The Photodisintegration of ^4He " at Harwell and at the Kelvin Laboratory of the University of Glasgow. He attended the IAEA Meeting on "Applications of Activation Analysis in the Life Sciences" in Bled, Yugoslavia and the panel discussion on "In Vivo Neutron Activation Analysis" in Vienna. At this discussion he chaired the session on "Calcium Metabolism" and also attended the informal discussions. Dr. McNeill also spoke on "Strontium and Calcium Kinetics at the Bone Level", at the 2nd International Conference on Strontium Metabolism, in Glasgow.

In the Department of Sociology, the following leaves have been granted: S. D. CLARK for two years as First McCullough Professor of Sociology, Dalhousie University; RAYMOND BRETTON on Canada Council Leave Fellowship for one year; LORNE TEMMERMAN as Visiting Research Fellow, Princeton University, with a Post Doctoral Fellowship from the Population Council, for one year; JANET SALAFF Research leave award from the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations, Program of Social Science and Legal Research on Population Policy.

PROF. R. A. LIVERSAGE, while on research-leave-of-absence at the Strangeways Research Laboratory, Cambridge, Eng. during 1972, lectured at the Middlesex Hospital Medical School, London, and also the Strangeways Laboratory on "In vitro Studies on the Role of Nerves, Insulin and the Anterior Pituitary Hormones in the Regeneration of the Urodele Amphibian Limb".

University College

PROF. ALEXANDER LEGATT read a paper on "The Two Gentlemen of Verona" at the Shakespeare Institute of the University of Birmingham on Dec. 9. He also visited the University of Caen on April 19 and 20, where he lectured on Richard III and The Merchant of Venice, and led a seminar on the development of the Canadian theatre.

PROF. CLIFFORD LEECH gave a paper on "The Incredible in Jacobean Tragedy", given at the Shakespeare Conference at Stratford-upon-Avon, Eng. Aug. 30.

PROFS. P. R. LEON and PH. MARTIN attended seminars on speech synthesis at the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm and at the Tata Institute in Bombay.

PROF. A. L. STEIN gave papers on "Pictures Cues vs. Word Cues in Stigma Ranking" and "The Stigma of Obesity", to the annual meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association; on "Psychologie sociale et le langage des stigmates" at the Third Annual Colloquium of the Canadian Association of Applied Linguistics, Montreal.

PROF. V. E. GRAHAM attended the international congress on Humanism held at the University of Lyon II, May 25, 26 and 27. He delivered a paper on "L'Humanisme lyonnais à travers les entrées triomphales au seizième siècle".

PROF. C. D. ROULLARD addressed the Académie Delphinale in Grenoble, France on April 22. In the following week, at Aix-en-Provence, he participated in the eighth annual colloquium of the Centre Aixois d'Etudes et de Recherches sur le XVIII^e siècle, devoted this year to "Turcs et Barbares au XVIII^e siècle", where he gave an illustrated lecture on "L'Iconographie du Turc en France à l'époque de Louis XIV et au-delà".

PROF. F. I. CASE gave a paper entitled "Revolt and Ideology in the Works of Aimé Césaire" at the Colloquium on Aimé Césaire held at the University of California (Irvine) on May 25. He was invited to participate in the work of international group of specialists discussing the subject "Elaboration philosophique du temps et de la temporalité" at UNESCO, Paris, June 27-29.

PROF. J. F. FLINN attended the International Conference on "The Medieval Beast Epic" organized by the Institute of Medieval Studies of the University of Louvain, Belgium, May 15-17. He chaired one session and presented a paper on "Littérature bourgeoise et Le Roman de Renart" and an illustrated lecture on "L'Iconographie du Roman de Renart".

PROF. P. R. DUCRETET spoke on "La Valeur culturelle de l'audio-visuel", Séminaire II, Congrès de l'Association des Professeurs de Français des Universités Canadiennes, Montréal, May 29-June 1.

PROF. P. R. LEON spoke on "Aspects phonostylistiques du texte littéraire" at Université de Nancy, Université de Besançon and at the Sorbonne (Paris III and Paris VII); on "Phonétisme du français canadien" at Université de Caen; on "Ethnologie française et littérature" at Centre d'Anthropologie (Musée de l'Homme) Paris.

PROF. J. YASHINSKY gave a paper on "Les comédies de Voltaire: popularité et influence" at Congrès de l'Association des Professeurs de Français des Universités Canadiennes.

Erindale College

PROF. HOWARD F. ANDREWS (Geography) attended a workshop on Metro-A.P.E.X., a computerized urban land use game, at the Environmental Simulation Laboratory, University of Michigan, in June.

PROF. W. G. FILION (Botany) presented a paper, "The Somatic Karyotype of Maize; an Analysis of a Series of Reciprocal Interchanges" at the annual meeting of the Genetics Society of Canada at the University of Lethbridge, June 19-23.

PROF. WYMAN HARRISON (Geography) attended the 13th International Conference on Coastal Engineering in Vancouver July 10-14, and presented a paper, co-author P. A. Bullock, one of his former graduate students, entitled "Forecast System for Beach Changes on Ocean Coasts".

PRINCIPAL J. T. WILSON (Geophysics) was invited to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Massachusetts by the graduate students to give two lectures and hold a seminar. NOEL MOORE, Film maker-in-residence, accompanied Dr. Wilson to film interviews with earth scientists and features of geological interest for films in preparation at Erindale College. Principal Wilson has been elected President of the Royal Society of Canada.

Searborough College

PROF. A. C. THOMAS showed his videotape "Street-Folk of the 1850's" at the Conference of the Victorian Studies Association of Ontario at Glendon College on April 8 and gave a paper, "The Victorian Street Arab", at the Canadian Learned Societies Conference at McGill University in June.

Interdisciplinary Studies

PROF. G. PAYZANT gave a lecture on "Philosophical Problems of Musical Perception" at Mount Allison University on July 18, and a lecture on "Tonal Perception" at Dalhousie University on July 24.

Voting starts

(Continued from page 1)

ment's philosophy of education and its place in society, whereby education was regarded as a consumer product for which those who benefitted must pay. He questioned the morality of putting a price tag on education and encouraging people to go into debt. It was a pity, he said, that Ontario had put so much money into educational facilities, and then wasted it by reducing the accessibility to education. On the one hand, the government, by formula financing, encouraged the universities to enroll as many students as they could, and on the other hand imposed higher fees which restrained students from entering higher education.

Mr. Bullbrook said that, because of the lack of information in the provincial budget, he did not know whether the fee increases were appropriate or not. The Legislature in committee had spent four days studying the cost of post-secondary education, "and we may have been more interested than you are", referring to the scanty attendance at the forum.

Dr. Evans thought that the magnitude of the problem was far greater than the poor turnout would lead one to think. It was not right, the President said, to equate the cost of higher education with the return to the individual, because some of the return would benefit the individual's employer. The students, he suggested, were suffering from the disenchantment of society with many of its institutions, including universities. He was afraid of "over-reaction" which would cut off students from higher education.

"The government", said Dr. Evans, "should seriously reconsider its policy" and look into the whole matter of accessibility to higher education, especially for those who need it most — low income families and immigrants.

Eric Miglin thought that students actually paid about 60 per cent of the cost of their education, rather than the 20 per cent figure commonly used, because their costs included room, board, books, transportation, and deferred income as well as tuition fees. The government had said, Mr. Miglin stated, that a loan was the same as a grant. This was just not so, and he asked if the minister believed it. Later Mr. McNie replied that there was "definitely a difference" between a loan and a grant.